HURTADO'S DECISION ON RECEIPTION OF LIND TO BE ANNOUNCED TODAY

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 12.—President Huerta today will announce his final decision as to the reception of Lind to be announced today.

While Lind has been in Mexico City since two days, he has not yet "officially" arrived. That is, he has not yet been received by President Huerta either directly or indirectly through General Obando.

Last night, Lind arrived in the government building until daylight. President Huerta was in northern Mexico, and Lind arrived in the government building until daylight.

Go Huerta's final stand toward Lind will depend on the success of President Wilson's attempt to secure "peace" in the country. Should Huerta adopt an arrogant attitude, Lind's position will be untenable.

Government organs among the press have suddenly adopted a virulent tone. "Imperialism," President Huerta's official mouthpiece, says today.

"While the United States is making

WHY WASN'T THIS COP WATCHING THE STREET TRAFFIC?

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 12.—Martin Pearce was arrested today on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. A nifty, pearl-handled revolver, was worn by Pearce strapped to his left knee. Main street was muddy and Miss Pearce happened to hold her skirt on—well, anything, the crossing cop said she would have to explain it to the judge. Miss Pearce said she wore the gun for protection.

these obvious preparations to intervene and interfere in our domestic affairs, why should our government be criticized for protecting its dignity and the national honor?"

The paragraph refers to the arrival of ships of war of the Mexican coast on the coast of the United States. An evidence of the situation, President Huerta has established a watermanship of all new dispatches, and even the dispatches to the state department at Washington are closely scrutinized. Matter considered dangerous to the Huerta rule is blue-penciled. The censorship is as strict as that usually maintained in war times.

Official dispatches from the State of Tabasco, Mexico, today reported that the state of revolution from the south is spreading over the previously peaceful state and that there is considerable danger to foreigners and their property, particularly in Northern Tabasco.

One hundred and twenty-five refugees, most of them women and children from Tabasco and other states, were taken to Galveston on the steamer Norwagh.

Charges of "falsification" were made against a recent note to President Wilson today, stating that not the slightest acknowledgment to Mr. Lind's presence has yet been shown in Mexico city.

Mother and Girl at Odds in Court

"Send us both away, judge," pleaded Mrs. Ella Donovan in the middle court today. "I'm willing to suffer in order to have my daughter in some safe place until she comes of age. I can't do anything with her."

Mrs. Donovan, forty-four, of No. 27 Sheridan street, was charged with beating her daughter, May, aged sixteen, and disturbing the peace.

"Situation on your part for staying on all last night," cried Mrs. Donovan to the judge. "If you were beaten as you whip me, you'd take refuge with neighbors, too."

Judge Jones interposed: "I've decided to put you both in charge of the probation officer and if you offend again I'll punish you."

MRS. ALBERT SLATER, who is "feeling her own country first" on honeymoon with rich Harvard man.

Photograph by Louis F. Bicknell.

YORK HARBOR, Me., Aug. 12.—Mrs. Albert Slater, a few minutes after she left her home in the city, was seen by a young man who was waiting to defend their own claims.

"See your own country first, my dear," was what Mrs. Slater said, she and her husband were planning a honeymoon by automobile, and one of the young men had asked:

"But, my dear, why didn't you go ahead? Fawcett's honeymoon is an automobile!"

"We talked it all over—her and I, and decided to see this country first," the brand-new Mrs. Slater replied.

Young Slater had distinguished himself before he won the beautiful South Orangeton girl for his wife. He left Harvard and went to work at $6 a week in his father's mill at Jewett City, Conn.

He did so well there and made so many friends that his shopmaster clipped in to pay a wedding present for his bride. After their "seeing America first" honeymoon, they will live in Pinehurst, N. C., on young Slater's farm.

George Ade Brings Dad "Home" News

LONDON, Aug. 12.—Seventy-one-year-old John Ade, of Kentland, Ind., father of George Ade, left his native town of Lewis, in Indiana, a day of labor, for America. He has never been back since, but is planning to return in 1917.

George Ade, in Lewis, today said: "You see, father always likes me to bring back the latest news of his old home."

FIRST WOMAN IN SOUTH BOSTON WINS HER CASE

Miss Sadie M. Lipner, the first woman lawyer to plead a case in South Boston District Court, was the plaintiff in the case today. The case was John Q. D. Lomb, a New Haven railroad freight clerk, charged with breaking open a freight car to steal shoes.

When the Lomb case was called, a comely young woman, whose brilliant coloring was well set off by a dark suit, rose and—to the general surprise—addressed Judge Fallon thus:

"Your Honor, I represent the defendant, and we are ready to go on with the case."

Judge Fallon had had most every kind of a lawyer plead before him, except a woman. He said gravely: "Very well, madame."

The police witnesses testified. The strongest was Patrick F. Mead, sub-station in the freight yard. He said he saw the Lomb break down the door of the car and start to bring out a pair of shoes.

Miss Lipner cross-examined Mead and other witnesses closely. She made Mead admit that he did not see the Lomb take anything from the car.

Then Miss Lipner put the Lomb on the stand. He told a story of having accidentally put the shoes in the car and of having for it. He admitted breaking the door seal, but said he did not take the shoes or the furniture.

Then the Twentieth Century Court took the case. The judge found the Lomb's eleven years of work in the same place, and he found the Lomb's wife, Judge Fallon discharged the Lomb.

When he did so Miss Lipner's face was wreathed in smiles to match those of the Lomb and Mrs. Lomb. The latter smiled because of the charge against her husband, but was weeping through her tears.

The young woman lawyer was the star of the day, and her work was followed closely by the masculine attorneys who were waiting to defend their own claims.

Hunt Boston Fugitive in Maine Gem Theft

KENNEBUNKPORT, Me., Aug. 12.—The police gave an intensive list today of the $10,000 worth of jewelry stolen from "Crown," the summer home of Mrs. M. H. Fernald of Philadelphia.

The coast is being watched for a racing motor boat in which the jewelry gang is supposed to have escaped. Maine police believe that the job was "housed" by the expert crew who has been spent.

It is said, too, that the marriage will be solemnized in an Episcopal church of which Mr. Fernald is a member. Miss Fernald has attended St. John's Episcopal Church in Washington, D. C., where her father was a member.

Restaurateur Engler Is Found Guilty

Frank Engler, a restaurant keeper of No. 20 Hawley street, appeared before Judge "Red" in the Municipal Court today charged with neglecting to remove or abate a nuisance after being ordered by the health officer. He was found guilty and the case continued for 15 days to give him time to comply with the law.

DON'T PUT UP WITH A PARISHMENT ROOM OR BOARDING HOUSE

With a furnished Room or Boarding House, you can get a better one today among those listed in the American's Furnished Room Column.

Jessie Wilson May Wed Next Month

Ceremony, it is said, will be in an Episcopal Church.

COENHIN, N. H., Aug. 12.—It is expected that invitations will be issued shortly for the wedding of Miss Jessie Wilson, President Wilson's daughter, and Francis H. Sayre. It is said the ceremony will be next month.

It is said, too, that the marriage will be solemnized in an Episcopal church of which Mr. Sayre is a member. Miss Fernald has attended St. John's Episcopal Church in Washington, D. C., where her father was a member.

45,000 Templars March in Denver

DENVER, Aug. 12.—Forty-five thousand Knights Templars, resident in their impressive uniforms, marched through the streets of Denver today, formally opening the thirty-second triennial convocation of the order. Tens of thousands filled the streets through which the fire-breathing parade passed and cheered the knights. Scores of bands played popular hymns. It was the most brilliant spectacle ever witnessed in Denver. The grand officers and prominent Denver knights led the first division.

Fresh Pond Ice Company Fined

The Fresh Pond Ice Company was fined $20 today by Judge Amy in the Cambridge Court for short weight. The company sold ninety-nine tons, but the scales showed only eighty-four pounds and fifty pounds. Inspector Healy of the weights and measures department was the complainant.

Who is the street car conductor with the longest continuous service in the New England States?

WHO is the street car conductor with the longest continuous service in the New England States? This is the question that has been put up in the Boston AMERICAN to have answered.

Do you know who he is? If so, please send in his name, address and a complete report of his service.

While it may not be necessary, claimants or their friends should be prepared to furnish documentary proof.

Twenty-five dollars will be paid to the finder and an equal amount will be presented to the man sought for.

The claims may be sent in until Friday, August 15.

The AMERICAN hopes to be able to print the name of the sought for conductor on Sunday, August 17.

WARREN, N. I., Aug. 12.—Mrs. Lydia Cutler, seventy-three, widow of former Lieutenant Governor Charles R. Cutler, died.

7 INJURED IN AUTO CRASH IN CONCORD, N. H.

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 12.—Five young men and two young women were injured when a big touring car swerved and driven by William Locks of Warren ran off a highway and crashed into a telephone pole on the outskirts of this city. The injured are:

Miss Mary Truchan, twenty, No. 2 Ferry street, Concord, at Margaret Pillsbury Hospital, suffering from shock and injuries.

Miss Mary E. Truchan, twenty, No. 28 Ferry street, Concord, cut and bruised. Treated at hospital and sent home.

Edmund Whiting, Charlestown, shoulder, arm and leg broken, at Margaret Pillsbury Hospital in serious condition.

George F. Nichols, Lynn, cut and bruised, treated at hospital and released.

John Griffith, Somerville, cut and bruised. Treated at hospital.

The young men from Boston and vicinity are spending their vacations at Warren. They had Locks' touring car last evening and took out friends. They called for Miss E. and Miss Truchan in Concord, twelve miles from Warren, and were returning to this city after a pleasant drive.

LOS ANGELES TURNS OUT AT EXAMINER'S NEW HOME

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 12.—(U.P.)—Thousands of enthusiastic citizens of Los Angeles, including city and county officials, men of the cloth and members of the leading civil and fraternal organizations, witnessed the ceremonies of turning the cornerstone and raising the California bear flag at the new home of the Los Angeles Examiner.

These ceremonies were presided by a parade of formidable proportions through downtown streets, which acted as the escort of William Randolph Hearst and Mayor H. H. Rose to the new building site. A column of policemen and firemen, followed by automobiles, members of fraternal bodies and four bands were included in the escort.

The ceremonies were held under the auspices of the Los Angeles Advertising Club, and Ernest Ingold, president of the club, introduced James R. H. Wagner, president of the Los Angeles Realty Board as master of ceremonies. The Rev. Charles Edward Locke, pastor of the First Methodist Church, delivered the invocation.

Mr. Wagner presented the bear flag to the Examiner and the people of southern California. Arthur V. Kinney, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, made the speech of acceptance. The Rev. Joseph H. Johnson, Episcopal Bishop of the Diocese of Los Angeles, made an address, and Fr. George Donahue, representing the Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Conroy, Bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Monterey and Los Angeles, spoke.

MANY TRIBUTES TO ENTERPRISE WHICH PLANNED BUILDING

The tributes to the enterprise that planned the Examiner's new home were many. Some of them follow:

MAYOR H. H. ROSE.—The construction of this wonderful building is one of the greatest things that has ever done for a city the size of Los Angeles. A building over three hundred feet long and large in proportion, devoted to the use of one newspaper, in the city of Los Angeles, is indeed a magnificent enterprise.

DOUGLAS WHITE.—representing the Advertising Club of Los Angeles. The advertising club of the Pacific coast has been extremely successful in their work up to this time. Every movement made by a leader has been the movement for truth in advertising. However, when we entered on this movement it already possessed a leader for twenty years, or about that time, in the city of San Francisco. A publisher across who made the plain statement that no matter what the circulation of his paper should be, that circulation should be given truthfully and honestly to the people who bought the space.

That publisher was William Randolph Hearst. From that time up to the present in all the papers which he has owned and published he has carried out that same idea of honesty and truth in his advertising. In the circulation depends the sale of the advertising.

RT. REV. JOSEPH H. JOHNSON.—bishop of the Diocese of Los Angeles. I want here at this time to offer my congratulations to you for the splendid work which you have done in Los Angeles by now you have done splendid work all through these past years. They have undertaken to do in your interest and in your behalf. I feel that the record of the Los Angeles Examiner for the last three years has been a continued success, but I want here, as I say, at this time to make that statement to the public way and express my congratulations to you and to those who represent you for the splendid work which you have done in this connection.

JAMES R. H. WAGNER.—president of the Los Angeles Realty Board. A great many people on this coast are not aware of the enormous size of the Los Angeles Examiner and that, through a vast amount of capital and labor has been contributed by the architect

Mr. Hearst Extols Civic Spirit of Los Angeles

Mayor Rose, members of the Advertising Club and citizens of Los Angeles.

I think you must be proud on behalf of the citizens of the Los Angeles Examiner and on my own behalf for this beautiful structure and for the generous sentiment which has accompanied it.

It is a pleasant thing for me to feel that we are here among so many friends, and it is also a pleasant thing for me to feel, as we do feel, a sincere personal friendship for the citizens of Los Angeles and a deep devotion to the best interests of this great city.

This is a notable occasion for us of the Examiner. It marks a milestone in the progress of the paper. It is made doubly memorable by the participation of our Mayor and by the attendance of so many distinguished citizens. Yet with all its importance and significance it is only one of many occasions which we have joyfully encountered where you have kindly encouraged our efforts and stimulated us to further endeavor.

Under such encouragement and with the aid of the Examiner has grown until it is one of the biggest and best of all my publications. Certainly there is no publication of such magnitude in Los Angeles to which I take a greater pride and pleasure.

Praise for Californians.

I take pleasure in the success of the Examiner, first because I am a Californian, and take pleasure in the success of everything Californian (Applause). I was not born in Los Angeles, but I was born in California. A man is a Los Angeles no matter where he is born or where he lives. We Californians are happy to hear that you were born in Los Angeles. We are happy to hear that you were born in California. We are happy to hear that you were born in California.

In Los Angeles you have possessed this power long and employed it well. In the East extended privilege is still declining against the work of the Examiner. For many years you have exercised that function of popular enlightenment and political progress of the nation. In many instances the citizens are actually benefiting to adopt woman's suffrage. You have not only power representing the Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Conroy, of the Catholic diocese of Monterey and Los Angeles. What attaches importance to this occasion and to the building that is now laboriously being built is the fact that this building is destined to the feasibility of this right but have demonstrated the definite benefit of it. You have made universal suffrage a fact and popular government a reality. You have exercised the initiative and referendum wisely and temperately.

You have divorced your local city government from national politics and have made it what I should like to call a business institution, one of the best for the business world of a stockholder's city.

You have brought pure water from the cool, clear streams of the distant mountains, instead of conducting it from the polluted and polluted public of the populated district.

You have put your public money honestly and intelligently into great public works, instead of into pockets of greedy speculators and corrupt politicians.

Grow to Greatness.

You are lavishing undilutely and competently the field of public ownership in the form of the forebodings and forbiddings of interested public service corporations.

You have discovered all the arguments of related cooperation and have established all the opposition of public cooperation politicians.

And behold! You have prevailed incomparably in spite of your old advance and steady advancement; you have more friends, you have more power because of them.

In the favoring physical atmosphere of this country, true and true growth big, and in the favoring moral and spiritual atmosphere of this community human institutions grow to greatness.

I am truly proud and pleased to have a newspaper to be a part in the development of this great city; to play its part in the progress of this great state. I am happy, too, to have a newspaper system to see the needs of this progress in other parts of the nation, and to cultivate it there so that it may take root and flourish and blossom and bear fruit.

My dear wish is that Los Angeles may ever continue to be a leader in the moral and material development of our country. Its moral and political progress of the nation, its effective force, its progress, its progress in the splendid structure of California achievement.

ATTRACTIONS OF THE WEEK AT THE BOSTON THEATRES

Keith's Theatre.

The "Woman Who Passed By," a new dramatic comedy by Vincent Lawrence of this city, played by a cast of four players who are well known theatre goers, constitutes one of the new striking features on the bill at Keith's theatre this week.

The playlet deals with the fight of a young woman to save her father's home from the grasp of a grasping stranger, through the aid of a young man, who is the son of the father. The playlet is the work of a young man, who is the son of the father.

like, to give Boston some new songs and dances.

The "Ocean Trio" and the "Whirlwind Trio" are to mention other new and interesting novelty dances, are shown by the Gildas O'Meara, two vivacious dancers.

The Boston City Four, a quartet who for some years have given Boston a taste of real harmony, are back again, and Miss Scully and the quartet sing with daring work on the horizontal bar.

Miss Josephine Houston, with three changes of costume, sings as many songs as a unique idea, too, having a costly prima donna in Gilbert and Sullivan opera.

Chatter, Spencer and Irene Williams are seen in a sketch "That Natty Pair," and make good.

The wide range of attractions at Keith's is shown in the introduction of "Hello Hathaway's Simian Playmates," a group of monkeys and baboons with new tricks and capers.

The Lullaby, comedy musical, and their educated for service help to give the performances a novel turn.

Shubert Theatre.

The second week of Philip Barbo's new feature, "Miss My Quick," began at the Shubert Theatre last evening with a large audience that laughed even more heartily than any of the audiences at last week. Although it is a very merry affair, and a unique idea, too, having a rip-roaring comedy written around the adventures of a moving picture troupe.

"Miss My Quick" is undoubtedly in for a successful approval. It has won such instant approval here that it is already booked for a twenty-hour run, immediately following the Boston engagement. No other comedy has been so successful in the city, and it is a very merry affair, and a unique idea, too, having a rip-roaring comedy written around the adventures of a moving picture troupe.

Majestic Theatre.

Cautiously regarding "What Happened to Mary" may be satisfied to-day evening when the old-fashioned love story, "What Happened to Mary," opens the regular season of the Majestic Theatre. The playlet is the work of a young man, who is the son of the father.

The Lullaby, comedy musical, and their educated for service help to give the performances a novel turn.

Tremont Theatre.

The "Quo Vadis" photo drama entered upon its ninth week at the Tremont Theatre last evening, and there seemed to be an abatement of interest in these wonderful pictures, as there were capacity audiences at both performances. To-night will be the 100th performance of these pictures at the Boston.

Walton's Casino.

Walton's Casino really opened Saturday, but anyone would have thought that yesterday was the opening date, as the house was crowded both afternoon and evening and everybody gave the well-known hand typical of a season's beginning. The show was applauded from start to finish and every evidence given that the season is to be one of prosperity. The attraction was "The Garden of Eden," a new musical comedy, which was the first of the season.

The company comprises sixty people and is headed by Gertrude Hayes and the dancing "tricksters." The cast also includes Joe Barton, Charles Williams, Sam Manning, Harry Le Van, Alfred Stoller, Anna Frop, Marie Hill, Ruth Sullivan, the Five Almonds and Four Harmonists. Albert Von Tiller has written a new music for Mr. Gifford's new drama, and the costumes are handsome and the songs are good.

The performance goes with lots of snap and vigor, the songs are good, and the music is very much to the taste of the audience. Altogether, the Casino has opened its season very auspiciously.

Gloucester Trips.

Very many pleasure seekers are taking advantage of the delightful ocean trip to Gloucester. It is one of the most enjoyable trips the Atlantic coast affords.

Boston Women Who Have Made Good

NO. 15—LENA E. MENDELSON

Lena E. Mendelson, consulting accountant and auditor, is one of a few Boston women who have successfully reached a business field supposed to belong exclusively to men.

With an intellect bordering upon genius she drives into books and accounts with a certainty of seeing out irregularities that is hard to comprehend on the basis of any training she has had.

"I seem to visualize almost at once," she asserts, "and immediately set about righting what is wrong."

"Business men have told me I have an inventive mind and I cannot believe they are right. It comes quite right for me to design books for various kinds of business and I find myself at home among all forms of bookkeeping perplexities."

Miss Mendelson was called in on an emergency to take charge of the books of the Boston Children's Aid Society. Her success was immediate and she received an offer from the State to take control of the finances of the Massachusetts Commission for the Blind. For five years she held this responsible post and was only to go to business for herself. She was engaged at one time by the Boston Commonwealth to make an investigation of the bookkeeping system at Harvard.

Miss Mendelson combines admitted energy and ambition and often spends many hours at twenty hours a week, side of business, time performing her duties of the details of her profession. She takes several courses in Summer College and has studied in connection with Harvard University extension lectures.

Miss Mendelson does not reason why many women may not become expert accountants with salaries quite as large as those received by men for similar work.

Coming Events.

M. B. Warner in "The Ghost Broker" will open the Park Theatre on Labor Day with a satirical. Mr. Warner is spending his vacation at his place at Sea Rock, near Gloucester.

The Liberty Theatre resumes next Monday, with Max Spiegel's College Girls Comedy as the initial attraction.

Provincetown Trips.

The invigorating 100-mile deep sea trip to reach Provincetown and return, with brisk and cooling ocean breezes sweeping the decks all the way, is one that is long remembered. The Liberty Theatre leaves Bay Line wharf, 400 Atlantic avenue, every week-day morning at 8 o'clock, and Sundays at 9:30 a. m.

Nantasket Boats.

Large crowds enjoyed the fresh breezes on the Nantasket steamers yesterday. The trip down beautiful Boston Harbor, spending at most time as a serene one's fancy at the beach, is one of the most enjoyable that can be found anywhere.

Plymouth Boats.

What was almost a record crowd made the trip to historic Plymouth yesterday. The trip down beautiful Boston Harbor, spending at most time as a serene one's fancy at the beach, is one of the most enjoyable that can be found anywhere.

King Philip Trips.

Norumbega Park.

In the covered open air theatre at this amusement resort, yesterday, the troupe of the vaudeville program given the promise of roveded attendance for the week. Little known, the very cycling troupe, with her assistants, gave a unique as well as an amusing act. Other features were included: Holbrook, the eighty-year-old man; Bert Brothers, in their sketch, "Ten of the Comedy;" Kennedy and Parsonage, the hard about humor; the Four Kings, and the Webber Family.

Base Point and Nahant.

The Base Point and Nahant has carried one of the largest crowds in the entire history last Sunday, and it was necessary to run extra trips. The regular week day boat schedule is also being severely taxed these days, and it frequently happens that extra trips have to be made.

Lexington Park.

The vaudeville entertainment in the Boston Theatre at this famous park of shows was vigorously applauded by two large audiences yesterday afternoon and evening. Heading the bill were Claude and Marion Cleveland in a new comedy sketch, and others were Bonnell and Tucker, the Two Judges, Foley and Koller, and Theodore Tenny, ventriloquist.

Paragon Park.

It was a regular attraction that greeted the return to the cabaret show in the evening of Rosita Mantilla and Mr. Lloyd, the popular tango, turkey trot and Texas Tommy dancers. They will be seen for this week only. Tomorrow or Thursday they will add to their repertoire of these society dance acts the very latest craze, "The Pushy Stuck." A new feature in the cabaret this week is the acrobatic dancing of the Church Sisters. Tomorrow night there will be a fireworks display. The feature of the free open air circus this week is the daring drive rings performance of the Waldors.

THREE ALL-STAR
BOOTS MAKE UP
SHOW AT TRIPLE A.

PILGRIMS AND CUBS CLASH IN DOUBLEHEADER

The Pilgrims will begin two weeks' play at the South End grounds today. The Chicago Cubs will be their first opponent. This afternoon the Windy City team will be seen here in a doubleheader, the first game of which is due to start at 1:30.

Pilgrims and Cubs will likely do the mound duties for the Pilgrims. The former has had great success against the Cubs this season, and for this reason Stallings will probably send him after the pitcher. Perhaps showed a reversal of his early season form during the first part of the Western trip, but towards the end of the journey did much better work.

Stallings Should Help.

With the return of Manager Stallings to the fold, it is expected that he men will show a big improvement over their work in the West. To be sure, Stallings' show was not alone to blame for the poor trip, as the lack of decisions of the umpires played a big part in defeating them in more than one game. Captain Hill, however, who was in charge of the team, was in constant fear of getting the worst end of the decision, and all of the time, but was forced to take his medicine, as he did not want to be put out of the game.

Boys to Attend Game.

It is not believed that Stallings will be called away from his duties on any of the playing days of the present home trip, as the condition of his wife, who has been ill, has improved wonderfully.

At the game today boys from the Logan, Newton, Fremont, Lowell and Boston street playgrounds will be present as guests of President (Jaffrey).

President Gifford today announced the purchase of four new caps. Two are for the fielders and two outfielders. Wilson, left fielder, and Duggan, right fielder, of the Dallas, Texas, League Club, should prove very valuable additions to the team, as both are hitting the ball for better than .300. But, most of all, they are fielders, and that is what the Pilgrims need. They will report at the end of the Texas League season. Stallings has tried all season to build up a strong fielding combination, but his efforts, up to date, have not been altogether successful.

Cluskey, a third baseman from the Albany, Ga. club of the South Atlantic league, will report to Manager Stallings on September 5, while Oscar Duggan, Tex. club second baseman, is expected to join the team at the end of the Texas League season.

Gallant Meets Ketchell in Feature Bout Brown
Hopes to Win from Shubert

By JACK CONWAY.

THIMARTY should be plenty of action in the three ten round bouts at the Atlas A. A. tonight. And action is what the twentieth century fight "fans" demand. He does not care a great deal to see two clever boxers perform provided that at least one of them does not get a knockout punch.

The feature bout this evening will be between Johnny Gallant of Chicago and Al Ketchell, the rugged Hiddingsboro boxer. Gallant weighs about 135 pounds, while Ketchell is the holder of 215 pounds. Gallant is a very satisfactory performer. In his last bout at the Arena he defeated "Sam Rouse" Hopkins. He has outboxed the Chelsea lightweight by at least fifteen rounds, but regardless of this was beaten badly.

Johnny's chief asset is a right-hand punch. It lands with a thud and usually causes Gallant's opponent to tumble to the canvas. Ketchell, however, is also a sweet puncher. Therefore he will be able to make things interesting for the local boy.

Ketchell is well known to Eastern boxing "fans," as he has clashed with such well-known performers as "Knockout" Brown, Freddy Welch, "Boss" Hogan, Eddie Smith, Johnny Lane and Jack Britton. Terry Lee, Ketchell's manager, claims that the Hiddingsboro boxer is a man of "Terry" McNeil's. Lee was one of McNeil's chief advisers when "Terry" was stopping his opponents in a series of two.

HARD BOUT FOR BROWN.

MICKET BROWN, the skillful Malden bantamweight, who has been making a name for himself, will have to perform at his best if he is to win this evening. He will be pitted against Al Shubert of New Bedford, who is one of the classiest boys of his weight in New England. Shubert has met many of the "brilliance" in the lightweight division. He recently fought a spirited ten-round draw with Frankie Burns of Jersey City. It will be remembered that Burns is the young man who held Johnny Cusack to a draw a few weeks ago. Burns gave the Chicago "champion" such a beating that the latter was forced to spend several weeks in the hospital after the contest.

If Brown is able to win from Shubert he will be in line for dates with some of the leading men in the local class. Just now Shubert is anxious to prove a hard fight with Walsh. If he defeats Shubert he may get a fight with the crafty Jimmy, but if the New Bedford boy wins tonight Brown will have to start his battle for ring fame over again.

Mickey has been training in Malden for the past week with "Kid" Lee of Chelsea and Jimmy Noonan of Dorchester. Brown has shown great speed in his work. He is a hard puncher, in every bit as fast as the Malden lad and is a hard puncher.

DELMONT TO MEET MICK.

THIS first bout of the evening will be between the veteran Al Delmont and Jack McNeil of Charlestown. Delmont has not engaged in many bouts lately, but says that he is in good condition. He is a hard puncher, in every bit as fast as the Malden lad and is a hard puncher.

Delmont and McNeil have already fought once. The last was staged in New Bedford last winter, and the honors were even when hostilities ended. McNeil is a fast, aggressive little fellow, and his many admirers in Charlestown are anxious to see him against Al Shubert of New Bedford, he will become a winner tonight.

Sprint Stars in Races at Revere

The biggest race card of the season has been arranged by Manager Butler for the "big" race at the Revere Beach Oval tonight and will include about everything on the calendar in the way of cycling.

The first big event will include a series of sprint races, with Frank Revere, the American champion; Frank Cavanaugh, the Irish speed star; Jackie Clark of Australia, looked upon as the second fastest man now in America; and Alberto Hestral of Italy, who has held the best sprinter in the world as the third rider.

The race will be run in five heats, in which each man will meet the other in a two-man heat, and all four will ride in the final.

The winner in each heat will score one point and the loser two. The winner of the four-heat contest will be the man with the smallest number of points.

In addition to the big sprint contest there will be a special match race between the winners of the two heats between Jimmy Moran and Johnnie Moran.

The race will be ridden in heats of ten miles each.

The regular list of amateur events will also be run, and a record field is expected in the various distance events.

Josh Devore Traded to the Phillies

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12.—Josh Devore, centre fielder of the Cincinnati Nationals for the past few weeks, is now the property of the Philadelphia Nationals.

Devore declared himself satisfied with the transfer, for the reason that he will have a chance in the fight against McGraw's Giants, which discarded him.

"I kept Reala Becker out of a regular job with New York; I beat him out of his job with Cincinnati; now I wonder if I am going to get his job away from him in Philadelphia," speculated the fast sander.

Devore's inside knowledge of the methods of the Giants is expected by Doan, it is said, to be of benefit to the Quakers in the battle for the pennant.

Cincinnati asked for waivers on Devore, and Philadelphia put in a claim.

"Hap" Myers Gets Spokane Claim

CINCINNATI, Aug. 12.—The National Baseball Commission was handed down a finding in which it allowed the claim of Payer Ralph Myers of the Boston National League club for $200 due him from the Spokane club of the Northwestern League. Myers was promised one-third of his purchase price. This latter was $1,200, and $300 of Myers' share has been paid. The commission allowed the remainder.

The Boston club subsequently agreed to pay $300 additional for Myers' services, this after he made good with the club. The commission also awards Myers one-third of this amount, and instructed the Boston club to send the $300 to the secretary of the commission, who will deduct Myers' share and forward the remainder to the Spokane club.

Yanks Pay $6,000 for Marty McHale

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Net cost with spending $12,000 and giving two regular players for infielder Martin McHale, President Farrell of the Yankees has invested $6,000 for three minor league pitchers.

Pitcher Marty McHale, formerly with the Boston club of the Central League for $1,500. McHale is a right-handed pitcher. He will report to New York at the end of the Central League season. The third pitcher purchased is "Fatty" Connor of the Petersburg team of the Virginia League.

Al McCoy Beats Bartfield.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Al McCoy, formerly of Boston, defeated Eddie Bartfield in a ten-round bout at the Military A. C.

There should be a rule somewhat similar to the game of Love. "Don't go in for the kiss until you have the engagement ring." The kiss should follow the engagement ring. If it precedes it, there usually is no engagement.

British Opinion Plainly Expressed

The almost unanimous demand by the influential press of Great Britain that the government alter its decision to take no part in the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco is likely to be heeded and a source of astonishment removed. Indeed, it was clear that the question had only to be plainly stated to the British public to bring to the surface a determination not to allow any mistaken feeling of irritation over so inconsequential an issue as that of the Panama Canal tolls to have such an unhappy manifestation.

British merchants and manufacturers who declare that they do not see the advantage of exhibiting in a country which maintains a high tariff for the very purpose of keeping their products out should remember that, in spite of the tariff, the United States buys more British exports than any other country in the world, with the possible exception, in some years, of Germany. The United States takes more goods from Great Britain than even her great Indian empire; almost three times as much in value as her beloved colony, the Dominion of Canada.

As the greatest maritime nation in the world, Great Britain has not only a very immediate interest in the canal itself, but is likely to share heavily in the upbuilding of those several South American countries to which the opening of the canal will bring vitality and wealth. Its place in the San Francisco Fair should be worthy of its great merchant marine and a conspicuous attraction.

What Do You Suppose Interests Them on the Fastest, Most Important Train?

National Affairs, Great Discoveries, News of Historical Importance? Not at all—Something Simpler
Copyright, 1913, by the Red Cross.

The fastest, best train rushes from Boston to Chicago. Men who have important business to attend to, men presumably important themselves in the management and development of the country, pay an extra price to make speed. In a night and part of a day they fly from the big city on the Atlantic Ocean to the great city on the Lakes.

Two cars are provided for travelers apart from the cars in which they sleep.

In each of these two cars are bulletins posted up for all to see. Sober old men with thin, gray hair and worried faces; young men with thick hair and worried faces, solemnly read the bulletins and turn away. And you can tell by the look in the worried face, by the extra dose of worry, or by the slight touch of triumph, from what city the individual comes.

What do you suppose he has seen in that bulletin? No, gentle or fierce reader, he has not been reading important news of the Balkan war.

He hasn't wondered whether the United States should spread as it should all the way down this continent and stop just south of the Panama Canal—for the present.

He hasn't been reading bulletins of scientific discovery, or news of importance in the world and its history.

He has been reading the important fact that Collins "pitched" and Carrigan "caught" for the Red Sox, while Dubuc "pitched" and Rondau "caught" for the Tigers.

He has been reading the number of runs, hits and errors—if you know what they are—and finding out who won in various games of baseball throughout the country.

"It hath not yet been shown what we shall be" is a fine sounding sentence, descriptive of our future greatness.

"It hath not yet been shown what petty, little human mice we are" is a sentence that would describe pretty well the human race today.

There are men traveling a thousand miles over night, propelled by the force buried in the coal several million years ago. They travel in rooms lighted with the electric power that flashes in the clouds, on rails and wheels of steel.

Their journey is the result of millions of years of the earth's development, and of hundreds of thousands of years in the development of human intelligence. AND THEIR MINDS ARE ON A BALL GAME, WHERE MEN STAND UP WITH A PIECE OF WOOD IN THEIR TWO HANDS AND STRIKE A SMALL BALL THROWN BY ANOTHER MAN.

These men, "heirs of all the ages," have their magnificent minds concentrated on a childish game that could have been played and was played in another form by the savages that lived here before language was perfected, when the club or bat was the only weapon, almost the only tool, and when savages doubtless struck with their clubs at round pebbles thrown toward them, as other savages now strike at baseballs with the clubs that they call bats.

The human race has not grown up to its possibilities. It is a race of children, easily tired, incapable of concentrated, earnest thought.

It is a race of men that work like leavers, or ants, or praise dogs through the day, each in his own little direction, indifferent to the others, and that unit "intellect in the evening, not upon any subject worthy of the brain of a man, but in intense interest in some poor little baseball game.

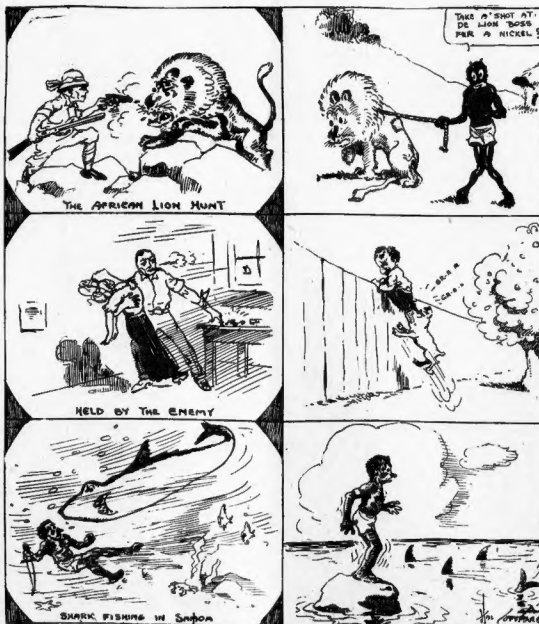

Many a weary century must pass before the human mind of the baseball bulletin will be really WEE.

In the Movies--In Real Life

The funniest funny pictures by the cleverest comic artists and the most laugh provoking stories by the foremost humorists of today—these are what you find in the great City Life Section of the Boston Sunday AMERICAN.

Dr. Parkhurst's Article

ON—Public Intellect—Is the Age of Serious Thinking Passed?—Tastes of Reading Public Indicates It Is—Machine-
Produced Necessities of Life a Blessing to Mankind.

Written for the Boston American by

DR. C. H. PARKHURST.

IS the American mind growing "intellectual"? Are we more inclined to prefer the sincere and searching handling of current questions to a treatment of them that is more light and airy?

The inquiry is a practical one, for it is the case that our inclinations are tending toward a skimming of the surface of things, that will mean that we are experiencing a shallowing of character, for character is measured by the earnestness of one's thinking. Men who cater to the intellectual tastes of people are the ones best fitted to deal with the question just proposed.

Colonel Harvey, who has had a long editorial experience, touched this matter in his farewell address to the readers of Harper's Weekly. He said: "Would people read even Mr. Curtis's scholarly leading articles today? We doubt it. Looking over the files the other day, we found no less than twenty long editorials on civil service reform in thirty successive issues, and very little else. They were sound, cogent articles, and, of course, admirably written, but how would they take on the newspaper of this hurrying age? How many wayfarers would buy them in preference to some one of the great number of lively, enterprising and finely illustrated magazines? Not many, we fear."

Colonel Harvey's inquiry suggests what is probably the fact, that there has developed the same change of taste in this matter of literature, as in that of food, and that, whereas people used to think more about the nutritious quality of what they ate, and less of its seasoning, their principal regard is now given to the condiments and spices and less to the substantial stuff into which the spices are put.

Consequently opportunity was afforded for the play of a variety of faculties which not only gave zest to employment, but helped to round out the workers' development. The policy of division of labor has not been applied. Results produced required thought, calculation, integrity, a careful adjustment of means to ends. The policy of division of labor has not been applied.

Free action engenders intelligence. In running the ordinary machine there is not free action. As soon think of a horse becoming a philosopher by walking a treadmill.

Depression in the quality of the worker dawns after it depression in the value of the machine. The smaller the intelligence, the smaller the pay, for there are always cheap people waiting around to take the place of the discontented, and we are bringing them over by boatloads from southern and eastern Europe.

Manufacturers believe in tariff because it keeps the price of commodities up, and believe in unrestricted immigration because it keeps the price of labor down.

We have been taxing imported goods in order to protect us from cheap labor abroad, but have been importing, untaxed, just the cheap labor we professed to be protecting ourselves from. The foolishness of the people has not been silly enough to keep up with the subtleties of the manufacturers.

Our manufacturers here are just like the Yorkshire people in England, who made money out of the surplus of operatives and took no interest in the scheme of drawing off surplus labor into the colonies offering it cheap transportation.

No rational Christian objects to manufacturers making money, provided it is not at the expense of the public, and at the sacrifice of the intelligence, health and life of the operatives by whom their gains are accumulated.

"SHED RUMBLE," Editor BOSTON AMERICAN: Dear Sir—Vladimir Kravtsov, editor of the "New York Evening Post," states that our ideas of the country are all wrong. "For instance," says he, "I lived in St. Petersburg for thirty-five years and never saw a riot or revolution."

Kravtsov surely remembers what took place in his native city, St. Petersburg, on January 9, 1905, known to the world as "Red Sunday."

There are millions of people to-day who would rather not have settled convictions about the big question of life than not themselves to the intellectual inconvenience of thinking their way through to them.

But why? Who is the man who understands well enough the human condition as it exists today to tell us why?

ALMOST every blessing, if turned over and viewed on the other side, is discovered to be also a curse. Machines that produce cheap commodities are a blessing; it also produces cheap operatives; and that is a curse, a curse to themselves, the State and the nation.

And by cheap operatives is not to be understood simply operatives that have to be satisfied with small pay, but operatives that are themselves cheap, deficient in those qualities that constitute personal worth.

The reason of it is that machinery reduces tremendously the percentage of skilled laborers. A man, woman or child does not need to know much in order to run a machine, and running it will do little or nothing toward making them know more.

In fact, the longer they run it the more of a machine they themselves become. Work, under the conditions which existed a half century ago, was generally a means of training.

Consequently opportunity was afforded for the play of a variety of faculties which not only gave zest to employment, but helped to round out the workers' development.

Free action engenders intelligence. In running the ordinary machine there is not free action. As soon think of a horse becoming a philosopher by walking a treadmill.
